C- SUBRAMANIA BHARATI

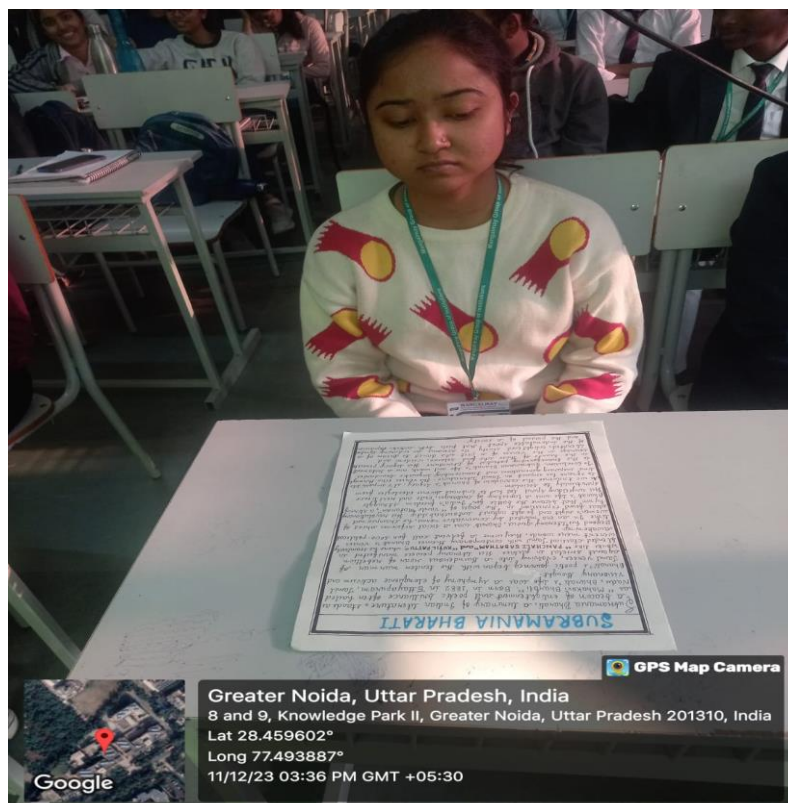

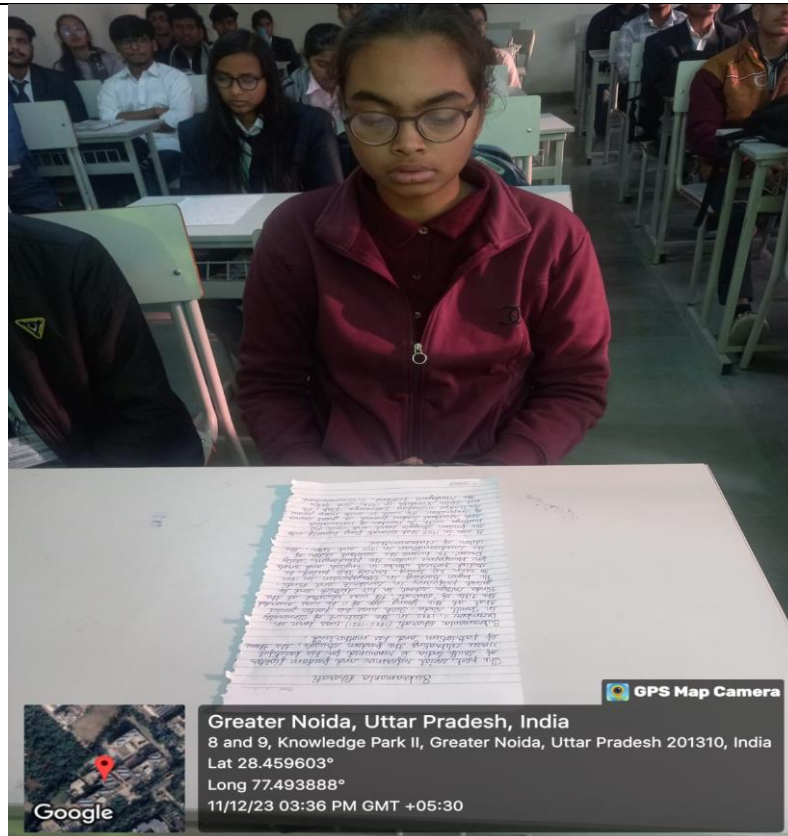

The son of a learned Brahmin, Bharati became a Tamil scholar at an early age. He received little formal education, however in 1904 he moved to Madras. There he translated English into Tamil for several magazines and later joined the Tamil daily newspaper Sarvasamibram. C. Subramania Bharathi was a Tamil writer, poet, journalist, Indian independence activist, social reformer, and polyglot. He was bestowed the title "Bharathi" for his excellence in poetry. He was a pioneer of modern Tamil poetry and is considered one of the greatest Tamil literary figures of all time.

Bharathi's numerous works included fiery songs kindling patriotism during Indian independence movement. He fought for the emancipation of women, against child marriage, vehemently opposed the caste system, and stood for reforming society and religion. He was also in solidarity with Dalits and Muslims.

Born in Ettayapuram of Tirunelveli district in 1882 on December 11, Bharathi had his early education in Tirunelveli and Vannasi.

From the very young age, Subramaniam was musically and poetically inclined. He lost his mother at the age of five and was brought up by his father who wanted him to learn English, excel in arithmetic and become an engineer. At around young age of 11, Subramaniam won Debate contest which was held at the court of Maharaja of Ettayapuram where he was conferred the title of "Bharathi" meaning blessed by goddess of learning Saraswati.
