The NSS volunteers and NCC cadets of the college, with a view to create awareness among the people about the COVID-19 disease and to contain its spread, made masks at their homes using cloth available at their homes and distributed among the people. They also distributed soaps and sanitizers purchased with their own pocket money and asked the people to wash their hands frequently to avoid infection by the Corona virus. They also informed the people about how they can prevent COVID-19 by maintaining social distancing, staying at their homes during the lockdown, wearing masks or covering nose and mouth with gamachha while going out for essential work, washing hands with sanitizer or with soap and water frequently. They also distributed foodgrains purchased with their own pocket money among the poor people who have lost their sources of livelihood due to the lockdown.
