Empowerment of women in general helps build a more cohesive society. Similarly, without education and without self-esteem there cannot be empowerment. All of these elements go together. The session was highly informative and motivating

DAY 2 Session 3 (9th March 2022, Wednesday)

	Prof. Rajat Agrawal, IIT Roorkee– “Empowering Women through Social Entrepreneurship”
	Today’s last session was delivered by Prof. Rajat Agrawal, Department of Management Studies, IIT Roorkee on the topic Empowering Women through Social Entrepreneurship from 02:00 PM-03:30 PM. Many social enterprises are actually created to support women and girls. women-led social enterprises can have a big effect on other women’s lives mostly through education, training, counselling, health, skill development, job creation, campaigning, affordable childcare, tackling human trafficking, combatting gender stereotypes, accessing finance and giving women a voice in their communities. Governments need better policies to help women social entrepreneurs and investors need to let go of their gender stereotypes and recognize these women as true innovators. The real change for women’s rights starts with women themselves and it can only be meaningful and sustainable if there are women leaders. His session was full of positivity, enthusiasm, very interactive and knowledgeable.

Examples (Grameen Bank)

- Muhammad Yunus, founder of the Grameen Bank and father of microcredit, provides a classic example of social entrepreneurship.
- The stable but unfortunate equilibrium he identified consisted of poor Bangladeshis' limited options for securing even the tiniest amounts of credit. Unable to qualify for loans through the formal banking system, they could borrow only by accepting exorbitant interest rates from local moneylenders. More commonly, they simply succumbed to begging on the streets.
- Yunus confronted the system, proving that the poor were extremely good credit risks by lending the now famous sum of $27 from his own pocket to 42 women from the village of Jobra. The women repaid all of the loan
