Rajasthani Diya Decoration Competition

by Alankrit, The Fine Arts Club of IITG

Event Description:

Under the Ek Bharat Shrestha Bharat (EBSB) initiative, the state of Assam is paired with the state of Rajasthan. To keep up with the spirit of the initiative, on the auspicious occasion of Diwali, Alankrit, the Fine Arts Club of IITG organized a very exciting event under the EBSB banner. The event was called the “Diya Decoration Competition” which had a Rajasthani theme.

The motive to organize such type of event was to elaborate the glimpses of Rajasthani culture in a different form. Organization of a Diya Decoration competition on the Diwali night was one such option that could highlight the rich Rajasthani culture while carrying on with the traditional celebrations of Diwali. This event was open to all the students of IIT Guwahati. The event was organized on the Fine Arts Club social media platform, Instagram(@alankrit_iitg). There were a total of ten participants.

All those entries defined the central theme of this event. Dr L. David Lal, Assistant Professor, Department of Humanities and Social Sciences, IITG was the honourable judge for the event.

The following are the winners of the contest:

- 1st Jadi Pujita
- 2nd Mansi Sahu
- 3rd Ankit Kumar

Prize money worth INR 3000/- is declared for distribution among the winners of the contest.
