FOOD DAY CELEBRATION

This day is celebrated on 16th October of every year. The main aim of celebrating this day is to create awareness on consuming healthy and hygienic diets in our daily life which will prevent the invasion of virus and bacteria in our body. Apart from this, this day portrays the starvation death taking place in African countries for want of food especially nutritious food. This day creates awareness among the masses about the value of food that should not be wasted in any marriage events and other family events and cultural events organized in offices.

In our college, two departments are indulged in organizing the day i.e Tamil Department and Botany Department. The students of these departments bring their own cooked food from their home and display it to the audience present in the celebration platform. The students who cooked a delicious food are honored with certificates and medals.
