

A training programme on the need to develop the life skills and soft skills of the students. Students were given a series of talks on topics to improve their competency in the corporate world by giving importance to time management, inter personal skills, corporate etiquette, technical skills, improving employability and the like. The programme was specifically designed to get the students job-ready.