Brief Note :

The Webinar was facilitated by Dr. Abey Kuruvilla - Executive Director International Affairs, Associate Professor – Business University of Wisconsin, USA along with his colleagues Dr. Suresh Chalasani - Associate Dean for non-traditional programs in the College of Business, Economics and Computing at the University of Wisconsin, Parkside and Dr. Terry McGovern.

The Covid pandemic has realigned the focus of teaching- it has mandated the use ICT tools. In the Covid and post Covid times, the teaching fraternity will have to be tech savvy to combat the seismic shift in the method of delivery. The Webinar addressed these concerns with the aid of highly qualified professionals in the industry who gave the participants an insight into the various tools available for teaching, testing and evaluating the students. They elucidated on the engagement of students in the class in both the synchronous and asynchronous formats. The session covered a demonstration of the courses handled by the resource persons in their universities using the Canvas platform. It gave the participants a hands on exposure of how to conduct online classes.
