(*)_(2)_ This religious place of worship, X, was built in 1344 A.D. After being supposedly destroyed by Tipu Sultan's army in 1789, it was never rebuilt. A tablet inscription recovered from the place is evidence that X is the oldest recorded place of its kind in India. Identify X and the place where it was situated in.

_(2)_ Born in a princely state in erstwhile British India, X was bestowed with a royal title by the then Viceroy of India, Lord Curzon. X was closely acquainted with Sir T Madhava Rao, who served as the Diwan of several princely states. Madhava Rao helped shape X's career in the later years, and it is due to his connections that the largest private collection of X's works currently resides in the palace Y. Identify X, and name the palace Y and the city where it is located.
