BEFORE THE JOURNEY:

I was very much excited to go to Silchar from the day I got an email for the Yuva Sangam Programme because it was a trip with many first time events in my life.

- 1) Going so far away from home for the first time.
- 2) Government sponsorship of the trip for the first time.
- 3) Going with other student friends to meet with students & friends of a North Eastern state for the first time.
- 4) Travel in Rajdhani Express for the first time.
- 5) Going with other University Students, especially JNU Students for the first time because I am planning to do my MA Geography from JNU. There, I might get a chance to explore the possibility and guidance regarding the same.

With so many firsts times, and with so much enthusiasm, I reached JNU Campus at noon on 29 Mar 2023, Wednesday. It was an auspicious day too – Durga Ashtami, a nice day for the start of the journey.

During our visit to NIT Silchar in Assam, we got the opportunity to explore the rich traditions and culture of Assam (a North Eastern State). We engaged in various activities and visited several places during the visit. Here is the report on our activities and experiences during the visit.

We were waiting in Lecture Hall II. In a short time, a team of senior dignitaries of JawaharLal Nehru University (JNU) headed by Honourable Vice-Chancellor of JNU, Smt. I felt very nice when Hon'ble Ma'am smiled at me and asked me about my name and from where I was.

I became all the more excited when I learnt that JNU is imparting certificates to students of Indian Military Academy and many other prestigious organizations. Through her Lecture, I also came to know that JNU has produced two Nobel laureates – Sh Abhijit Banerjee, who was a student of JNU and Sh Amartya Sen Ji who was a Faculty of JNU.
